Protect Education
Equality Bill

Breaking: Protect Education Equality Bill Officially he Law in Massachusetts

*Back in the day when my grandparents went to school and Italian was their native language, their education was provided for,
Massachusetts has recommitted to this. Children are our future!
Massachusetts was number one in public education last year!*

Dear friends and partners,

Today, for the first time, our state law reflects that every child in Massachusetts has the right to go to school free of discrimination based on their immigration status or disability.

Our legislative leaders have taken a bold stand against discrimination and injustice by swiftly passing a law that protects the vital education rights of immigrant and disabled students. While we cannot control the actions of the federal government, we can control what we do at home in Massachusetts.

As the ink dries on Governor Healey's signature, our state has stood up for what is right.

We have made sure that the law guarantees that parents are provided with trained school interpreters whenever needed to participate in their child's education- no matter what federal changes are rolled out.

Don't Get Caught in a Money Mule Scam

Money mule scams are a growing problem, and it's easier than you think to get roped into one. Criminals trick people into moving stolen money, often without them realizing they're breaking the law. Here's what you need to know to spot and avoid these scams.

What Is a Money Mule?

A money mule is someone who transfers money, often stolen, on behalf of someone else. Scammers use this tactic to hide the trail of illegal funds. It might seem like a harmless favor, or even a legitimate job, but it's not.

How the Scam Works

1. The Approach: Scammers contact you through job ads, emails, social media, or dating sites.
2. The Pitch: They claim you're being hired for a job or doing them a personal favor. They may say they're a "business owner" or that they can't access their bank account.
3. The Request: They'll ask you to receive funds in your account and send them elsewhere, often keeping a small "commission."

Red Flags to Watch For

- Too Good to Be True Offers: Promises of quick, easy money for little effort.
- Vague Job Descriptions: Roles like "payment processor" or "funds transfer agent" without clear responsibilities.
- Pressure to Act Fast: Scammers often insist you act immediately without giving you time to ask questions or think it through.
- Requests for Personal Bank Info: Legitimate employers don't need your account details to test your "trustworthiness."
- Unusual Transactions: Receiving funds from strangers or sending money overseas.

How to Protect Yourself

- Research Opportunities: Always verify job offers, especially remote or online positions, by checking the company's legitimacy.
- Trust Your Instincts: If something feels off or too good to be true, it probably is.
- Don't Share Account Info: Never share personal financial details with someone you don't know or trust.
- Stop and Report: If you suspect you've been approached by a scammer, stop communicating and report it to your bank and local authorities.

Getting involved in a money mule scheme can lead to frozen accounts, legal trouble, and more. Stay alert, ask questions, and trust your gut - it's the best defense.

With Gratitude

Thank you to everyone who has been sponsoring the work of Evolutions in Being. Our network of individuals requiring care and attention is growing. We are pleased that we have been able to help so many more people with your help.

If you know anyone who would like to work with us or support our work, please let us know.

This is a copy of the letter we have been sending out for sponsorship, in case you have not seen this yet:

Evolutions in Being is beginning a series of Sponsorship opportunities that will allow us to build on our programs and create well being for individuals no matter their financial circumstance.

We help people get the services and support they need. Some are able to pay for help and others are not. Using our neighbor to neighbor sponsorship opportunity, you are given the chance to help someone get the services they need, but may not be able to afford.

Some of the support we provide includes helping people move out or just move boxes and furniture within their home. We help them get their home in order, cut grass and seasonally pick up around their homes. We help them get their computers and phones working. We help them get visiting nurses and visiting support services when no family members are around to help. We provide rides and deliver flowers and food to those who cannot get out. We check in and make sure people, whether confined to skilled nursing facilities, assisted living or still living at home, know we are their neighbors and friends. We are here and we care. We help young families and single moms and dads that need similar support, but are just starting out.

All this and so much more is done by paying volunteers a stipend that supports them or provides extra money while they are in college or working another job or retired. People helping other people, whether volunteering or paying for volunteers, we are building a new model of support services. Our work is more important than ever now that the US government will be cutting back on these services. We hope you can help.

Please consider becoming an originating sponsor, either individually or through your company. Your name or your name and Logo will be printed on our Originating Sponsor Wall at our facility at 160 Turnpike Rd, Chelmsford, MA Sponsor names will also be splashed on programs and our website and other social media and marketing material, unless you prefer to be anonymous.

All sponsors are welcomed and encouraged to join us for our various events that bring community together at no additional fee. All of our work is done through the support and generosity of people. People just like you. Please join us. Please give $25.00 per month if you can. More if you can, less if you cannot. If you would like to help, please let us know and we will forward you an emailed monthly invoice that will allow you to pay for your sponsorship directly online. If you prefer a paper invoice, please let us know and one will be mailed to you.

Thank you so much!!

With Gratitude,

Jean Reed

P.S. Please let me know if you need more information or have specific questions about what we are engaged in.
Thank you.

Self Cleaning Door Handle Invented

A Jamaican university student has invented a self-cleaning door handle that's been described as a "life-saving design that fits" the reality of the Caribbean.

Using ultraviolet light, similar to various automatic cleaning devices invented and deployed during the COVID-19 pandemic, it kills 99.9% of pathogens while being safe for humans and animals.

Bacteria multiplies and spreads fast in the tropical climate of the Caribbean, so it's the ideal product for hospitals and other public buildings. <https://www.goodnewsnetwork.org/a-jamaican-student-invented-a-self-disinfecting-door-handle-for-hospitals-design-that-fits-reality/>

150,000 Sq. Miles to Be Protected in Canada's Northwest by Coalition of First Nations

In the far northern reaches of Canada, an agreement has been made to give stewardship over an area twice the size of Florida to a coalition of First Nations.

For the purposes of conservation, $375 million will help build sustainable, resilient local economies not based on extraction that will see 150,000 square miles of land and fresh water protected in the long term.

Penned in Yellowknife, the largest settlement in the Northwest Territories, it's called the NWT: Our Land for the Future Trust, and is the largest agreement of its kind in North America. <https://www.goodnewsnetwork.org/150000-sq-miles-to-be-protected-in-canadas-far-northwest-by-coalition-of-first-nations/>

Google Turns 2 Billion Smartphones into a Global Earthquake Warning System

Government earthquake alert systems are now being supplemented around the world with Google accelerometer data on smartphones and smartwatches, effectively creating a Google-wide early warning system.

The system has increased the number of people in earthquake risk zones capable of receiving alerts by 1,000%, with 2024 seeing over 2 billion devices receiving one.

Called the Android Earthquakes Alert system (AEA), it uses data from Android-powered devices to capture the faint signal of P-waves, a seismic tremor that precedes the more destructive S-waves.

Boy With Rare Bone Disorder Becomes Quarterback for a Day and Scores a Touchdown for the NFL Carolina Panthers

Nathan Frederick

Aug 12, 2025

His dream was coming true.

Stadium lights were shining in the nighttime Carolina sky. Fans dressed in their team's trademark black and blue colors filled the stands. And 12-year-old Jase Garland was heading out onto the field, going into an NFL game for the Carolina Panthers.

After everything he'd been through, the experience meant even more.

Two years ago, his mom, Erin, started to notice bruises building up on her son's body. which led to a troubling diagnosis. The Asheville, North Carolina boy had Myelodysplastic syndrome, a rare bone condition that can lead to leukemia—and Jase would need a bone marrow transplant.

Last year, after the boy got his transplant, the Make-A-Wish Foundation notified him that he could choose a dream to help carry him through his recovery, giving him something to look forward to amid endless doctor appointments.

Meningitis Can Now Be Quickly Spotted in Babies Thanks to New Non-Invasive Test to Replace Spinal Taps

Meningitis can be quickly spotted in babies with “great accuracy” thanks to a new non-invasive device developed to do the testing anywhere it’s needed.

A study showed that it identified the potentially deadly infection in new-borns and infants with 94% accuracy, potentially transforming current screening methods based on traditional lumbar punctures.

Doctors say the high-resolution ultrasound device offers a non-invasive alternative to a lumbar puncture, also known as a spinal tap, where a needle is inserted into the lower back to collect cerebrospinal fluid (CSF) for analysis.
